NURSING CARE

Wear red for our first bargaining meeting on April 8

Your negotiating team is scheduled to meet with your employer on April 8 and 9 to work on your next collective agreement.

We are ready to fight for your rights and priorities so you get the wages, benefits, and respect you deserve.

Wear Red on April 8

Show your support for your negotiating team and solidarity with your coworkers by wearing red on Monday, April 8!

Bargaining units across the province—including your colleagues in Covenant Health General Support Services—have worn red on bargaining days to show union-wide solidarity, and now it's your turn.

You can still show support even if you are unable to wear red clothing. Anything from a red hair tie or button to a red coffee mug will do the trick. Let's stand together and make our voices heard—and our solidarity seen.

If you take any selfies with your united coworkers, you can send them to photos@aupe.org to be shared on AUPE's social media. Let's show our determination and strength.

Upcoming Meetings

After April 8 and 9, the next scheduled meetings are on May 13 and 14. To receive more union news, including information on more Wear Red days, create a MyAUPE account at www.aupe.org/user/register.

Please contact a member of your negotiating team if you have any questions.
